

LOUIS S. HENDERSON

Sardinia House, London | l.henderson2@lse.ac.uk

EMPLOYMENT

|                                                                                             |         |
|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------|
| British Academy Postdoctoral Fellow LSE, Department of Economic History              | Current |
| Postdoctoral Fellow University of Tübingen, Faculty of Economics and Social Sciences | 2024    |

EDUCATION

|                                                                                       |      |
|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------|
| D.Phil. University of OxfordSupervised by Jane Humphries and Brian A'Hearn | 2024 |
| Visiting Research Student University of Victoria, Economics Department         | 2020 |
| M.Sc. Economic History University of Oxford                                    | 2018 |
| B.A. (Hons.) History, University of British Columbia                           | 2017 |

PEER-REVIEWED PUBLICATIONS

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                             |      |
|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------|
| “The economic history of caring labour: a case study of breastfeeding” , with Jane Humphries (Oxford), Oxford Review of Economic Policy 41,                                                                          | 2025 |
| “The political economy of skills, occupational entitlements, and social mobility: evidence from industrializing Coventry, 1790-1850” , with Moritz Kaiser (Tübingen), European Review of Economic History 29, no. 3. | 2025 |
| “The expansion of basic education during ‘deskilling’ technological change in England and Wales, c. 1780-1830,” Economic History Review 78, issue 2.                                                                 | 2025 |

OTHER PUBLICATIONS

|                                                                                                                                                                                               |      |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------|
| “The political economy of skills, occupational entitlements, and social mobility” , Positive Check , European Historical Economics Society blog                        | 2025 |
| Innocence and experience: early childhood education and industrialisation in England and Wales, 1767-1876 , D.Phil. Thesis, University of Oxford                              | 2024 |
| “Childhood and community adversity: the New Hartley colliery disaster 1862” , with Moritz Kaiser (Tübingen) and Ryah Thomas (WU Vienna), Local Population Studies 111. | 2023 |

WORK IN PROGRESS

|                                                                                                                                                                                     |  |
|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--|
| “Historical perspectives on the extent and value of care work” with Jane Humphries, in Oxford Handbook of Care Economics , under contract .                           |  |
| “Spilled milk: valuing six centuries of unpaid breastfeeding in England” with Jane Humphries, draft in preparation for PNAS                                  |  |
| “Endogenous fertility in pre-transition England” , draft in preparation for Review of Economic Studies                                                       |  |
| “Innocence and experience: early childhood education as an externality in eighteenth-century London” , draft in preparation for Economic History Review      |  |
| “Age norms and compulsory schooling: United States, 1850-1920” , with Michael Lachanski (Georgetown), draft in preparation for Journal of Economic History . |  |

AWARDS & FUNDING

|                                         |      |
|-----------------------------------------|------|
| Gino Luzzatto PhD Prize Finalist        | 2025 |
| LSE Global Research Fund                | 2025 |
| Thirsk-Feinstein PhD Dissertation Prize | 2025 |
| British Academy Postdoctoral Fellowship | 2024 |
| Roger Schofield Research Fund           | 2024 |

|                                                    |      |
|----------------------------------------------------|------|
| SSHRC Doctoral Fellowship                          | 2022 |
| Clarendon Scholarship                              | 2019 |
| Digital Humanities at Oxford Summer School Bursary | 2018 |
| John Bamfborough MSc Scholarship                   | 2017 |
| Deputy Vice-Chancellor Scholarship                 | 2016 |
| Peter and Claire Harnetty Prize in History         | 2016 |

TEACHING

|                                                                                                 |                    |
|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------|
| London School of Economics , Department of Economic History                              |                    |
| EH401: Historical analysis of economic change                                                   | Fall 2024          |
| EH431: Women in economic history                                                                | Winter 2025        |
| University of Tübingen , Faculty of Economics and Social Sciences                        |                    |
| E366: Climbing ahead and falling behind: social mobility across time and space                  | Spring 2024        |
| University of Oxford                                                                     |                    |
| Approaches to history: economics                                                                | Fall 2023          |
| Climbing ahead and falling behind: social mobility across time and space (OxNet access program) | Summer 2022 & 2023 |

PRESENTATIONS &amp; CONFERENCES

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 |      |
|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------|
| "Age norms and compulsory schooling: United States, 1850-1920", University of Bayreuth, Joint Economic History Research Seminar (by invitation).                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                | 2025 |
| "The market for early childhood education in England before the Elementary Education Act (1870)", World Economic History Congress, Lund University .                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     | 2025 |
| "Endogenous fertility in pre-transition England", Allied Social Science Meeting, San Francisco ; EHS Annual Conference, University of Strathclyde ; YSI-EHES Webinar                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                              | 2025 |
| "Extent and value of breastfeeding, England, 1400-1900", European Social Science History Meeting, University of Leiden .                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                 | 2025 |
| "Innocence and experience: early childhood education as an externality in late eighteenth-century London," Research Seminar (by invitation), University of Utrecht                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                       | 2025 |
| Winter School, University of Tübingen ; Historical Economic Demography Group, London School of Economics ; Graduate Seminar, London School of Economics ; EHS Annual Conference, University of Northumbria ; FRESH Meeting, University of Siena ; Social Science History Annual Meeting, Toronto .                                                                                                    | 2024 |
| LIVES International Conference, University of Lausanne ; Canadian Network for Economic History, University of Toronto ; EHA Annual meeting, Pittsburgh ; ISA World Congress of Sociology, Melbourne ; ESH Annual Conference, University of Warwick                                                                                                                                                           | 2023 |
| Economic History Society Residential Training Course, University of Warwick ; Graduate Seminar, Centre for Economic and Social History, University of Oxford ; Economic and Social History Research Group, University of Edinburgh                                                                                                                                                                                         | 2022 |
| Graduate Seminar, Centre for Economic and Social History, University of Oxford ; Intellectual Lives of Children Colloquium, Centre for the History of Childhood, University of Oxford ; Labour and Precarity across Time and Space, University of Oxford ; First-year DPhil Seminar, University of Oxford ; The Rise of Education across European Regions in the Last Two Centuries, University of Groningen | 2021 |

SKILLS

English (first language), French (fluent)
 Python (advanced), Stata (advanced), QGIS (advanced), Office, Excel, LaTeX

SERVICE &amp; PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT

Boards: Historical Economic Demography Group (LSE)
Organizer: "Non-rivalrous, non-excludable: the evolution of public goods in history", Jesus College (2024)
Reviewer: European Review of Economic History, Feminist Economics
Societies: EHS, EHA, SSHA, Mental Health First Aid

REFEREES

Prof. Jane Humphries

Fellow, All Souls College, Oxford
Emeritus Professor of Economic History, Oxford
Emeritus Centennial Professor, London School of Economics
jane.humphries@history.ox.ac.uk

Prof. David F. Mitch

Professor, Economics
Department Chair
University of Maryland Baltimore County
mitch@umbc.edu

Prof. Judy Z. Stephenson

Professor in Economic History of the Built Environment
University College London
Honorary Secretary, Economic History Society
Director, Long Run Institute
j.stephenson@ucl.ac.uk

Dr. Brian A'Hearn

Fellow and Tutor
Pembroke College, Oxford
Associate Professor of Economics
brian.ahearn@pmb.ox.ac.uk